

WallachBeth Capital LLC Launches Special Situations Desk;
Liquidity Sourcing Firm Adds M&A Trading Market Experts

For Immediate Release

October 25, New York, NY—WallachBeth Capital LLC (“WBC”), the institutional agency- brokerage today announced its further expansion, and has established a new trading desk that will focus on Merger Arbitrage, Special Situations, and Event Driven corporate actions.

Overseeing this expansion, WallachBeth Managing Director Alec Levine will be joined by Yemi Oshodi, an M&A industry veteran, who provides more than seventeen years trading and research experience for the industry’s leading sell-side dealers and buy-side fund managers. Mr. Oshodi most recently led the M&A trading desk at inter-bank broker Tullet Prebon, and previously held senior M&A trading roles for Ramius Capital and Putnam Lovell NBF, a leading M&A investment bank since acquired by Jefferies Group.

In addition to Oshodi, WallachBeth also announced the hiring of Paul Boogaert, an arbitrage trading expert whose background includes senior trading roles at Commerzbank Capital Markets, and more recently at UK-based Link Brokers Derivatives Corp., a subsidiary of global inter-bank broker ICAP Securities.

According to WallachBeth CEO, Michael Wallach, “With the economy shifting gears, there’s an obvious resurgence in corporate actions, and specifically, we anticipate a strong revival of M&A activity. Given our existing product knowledge, our focus on providing objective trading market insight and our ability to navigate markets to secure the right price for customers, our new desk is ideally-positioned to add value for those that are actively involved in M&A-related situations.”

Added David Beth, Co-Founder/President of WB, “To a great extent, we’re an air traffic controller in the world of trade strategy execution; our job is to provide an un-conflicted view, and to ensure that our customers enter and exit their trading strategies without turbulence. Our new desk is led by M&A and
